

Taking Stock

Dominic Bellone

Counterpart International

February 8, 2018

dbellone@counterpart.org

My concern or input on the “stocktaking” would be more meeting room space for bilaterals. As the Swiss Government and the Mag Chairwoman will attest, we kept squatting in their office because there was not sufficient space to meet or office doors were locked. I would recommend having volunteers stationed around the venue providing directions and assistance. The people at the main information desk did not have enough knowledge of the venue to assist the volume of people and the complexity of the facility. Many people I encountered were lost and had difficulty getting around, myself include. Please inform us in the future whether lunch is covered in our ticket rates as we must account for that in our budget, just a minor issue.

Content was top notch as far as I could tell. Don't have any recommendations on that measure.